THE MORNING CABLE REPORT

WASHINGTON, May 17. — Roosevelt gains were reported from many different districts yesterday. Idaho held her convention and, though her delegates will go to the convention in Chicago uninstructed, the sentiment in the State convention at Lewiston is reported to have been overwhelmingly in favor of the Rough Rider.
Montana elected for Taft, instructed to vote for the President as long as his name shall be before the convention.

The Minnesota convention added four votes to the Roosevelt column.
The former President won twenty-four votes at the presidential primaries held the other day. Yesterday the four delegates-at-large were also instructed to vote for him.

The West Virginia convention held in Huntington, sent a solid delegation to Chicago instructed for Roosevelt.
WASHINGTON, May 17.—The fight on the question of whether vessels owned by railroads shall have equal rights with ships not so owned in the Panama Canal opened with vigor before the House yesterday. A large delegation from the Pacific Coast is here supporting the policy of discrimination against railroad owned steamships.

ATLANTIC CITY, New Jersey, May 17.—Calls from the Barnegat life saving station notified the life savers here that the United States submarine boat Tuna, one of the latest and most improved of the submarines, had run aground in a gale near this city late yesterday afternoon. There are five men on board the submarine and it is feared that it will be impossible to save them. The life savers are standing by, and further assistance has been asked by the Brooklyn navy yard and the Norfolk yard has been notified to send any assistance required at once.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17.—The third officer and quartermaster of the Pacific Mail liner Siberia were arrested on board that vessel here yesterday afternoon, charged with having smuggled opium on board. The vessel was searched from stem to stern by the customs officers and, although the search proved unsuccessful, the authorities still believe that large quantities of the drug are hidden on board. The ship is being guarded by double guards from the customhouse, and another search will be made this morning.

HISTORY

In 1881 I went there to water and recruit ship and found the island deserted. I let all of my crew go on shore and forage. There were lots of fruit and also a lot of vegetables in the ground. Hogs and chickens were abundant but wild, so the boys had some fine sport with the guns. It was a picnic for the lusty whalers—fresh meat galore. They were a mixed crew of all nations, as you used to find in a whaler in those days.
None of them had ever heard of the supposed treasure that was buried there, as they were ignorant.

Sailor's Yarn.
We were homeward bound with a full ship a couple of months later, well up into the southeast trades. My wife and myself were having our after supper walk on the weather side of the quarter deck when the conversation of one of the boatsteers attracted my attention. I stopped at the break of the quarterdeck and listened. He was talking in Spanish to the mate about his little episode on the island.
It appears he had shot a wild pig and was packing him down the hillside to the ship and sat down to take a rest.
As it felt cold under him he scraped away the leaves and there was a large pot, bottom side up, buried in the ground. The bottom was round like a whaler's try pot. My heart thumped pretty hard just about then.
I said, "Juan, come here." "Yes, sir," said he.
"Why did you not report that to me while we were there?"
"Well, sir, I did not think it was worth mentioning—nothing but a common try pot, sir."

"All right; that will do, Juan." When we got home I offered Juan de Sales a third mate's job on the next cruise, which he eagerly accepted. I was determined to unearth that pot and find out what was under it.
But, as luck would have it, Juan got the smallpox and kicked the bucket.
That is one of my near shots at buried treasure that slipped through my fingers. I have been there often since and hunted but in vain. In 1901 I buried up in San Francisco an expedition that was bound to that same island to search for the treasure on the other end of the island by telling the promoter this same story.

GOLF AND TENNIS.

The place for recreation and a quiet time is Haleiwa. The golf links are as good as any in the country, the wind from the sea constantly blows in and the view of the country adds to the attractions of the place. There is a tennis court, as well, and the best swimming beach on this island; no coral, no broken bottles. The table at Haleiwa attracts many tourists who leave satisfied and well pleased with what they have seen and with their entertainment. The management of the hotel has an automobile in the rent service and guests secure it for rides through the country where the pine are growing yellow on their plants.
